Daily Systems — Rewards, Missions, Golden Hours & Premium

The daily reward, missions and achievements, energy drinks, the daily ×2 window, auto-mode, and exactly what Premium does (and doesn't) buy.

The daily reward

Logging in and claiming the header chip pays 1 gold + 50 local currency + 10 XP every day. Small on purpose — the real money is made working, trading and fighting.

Daily missions

Three missions rotate daily from a pool (work 5 shifts, train, eat 3 times, fight, make a trade, list 3 items). Each pays a flat 5 gold plus 10 XP; clearing all three adds a 5-gold bonus, so a full day is 20 gold — deliberately modest, so missions season the day without replacing it.

Achievements

One-time gold ladders over things you were doing anyway: player level (up to 250 gold at level 50), battles fought, laws passed, trades made and friends referred. Claim them from the dashboard as the tiers unlock.

Referrals

Your invite code pays both sides: a newcomer who uses any valid code starts with +50 gold, and your milestones climb from 50 gold at the first qualified referral to 1,000 gold + 6 months of Premium at fifty.

Energy drinks

Drinks are bought directly with gold — 0.10 gold each — and one use fills your entire energy deficit (1 drink = 1 energy, so a 60-point gap costs 60 drinks = 6 gold). A 10-minute cooldown separates uses. Bread is still the staple; drinks are the sprint button.

Golden Hours — 18:00–20:00 UTC, every day

For two hours a day the world runs hot: ×2 XP from work shifts and war strikes, and ×2 passive energy regeneration. Fixed rewards (daily claim, mission payouts) stay flat — the boost rewards active play. A glowing icon in the header counts the window down.

Auto-mode (Premium)

The split button on the dashboard can run sessions for you — repeated work shifts (or war strikes on a chosen front) that spend your energy as it regenerates, so a work day doesn't require watching the bar. Sessions stop on their own when the tank or the war runs dry. Auto-mode is a Premium convenience: it never produces more than the same clicks made by hand.

What Premium buys

Premium is comfort, not power — the full list:

- 20 bread a day instead of 10 (more energy per day, not per shift);
- –10% training time, stacking with Education bonuses;
- the 4th convoy slot — all four field structures at once;
- auto-mode sessions (above);
- cosmetic flair on your name.

No Premium multiplier touches damage, production or prices. Gold packages in the shop can also be gifted: pick a recipient, add a note, and they get the goods with a celebration pop-up.
