BOOK GETTING STARTED

LIVE EVENTS — COMMUNITY GOALS

Staff-started events where the whole server pushes one counter to a target inside a window, and everyone who took part is rewarded.

UPDATED 2026-10-09

WHAT A LIVE EVENT IS

Every now and then the staff open a live event: a title, a goal and a clock. For as long as the window runs — anywhere from 1 hour to 7 days — one counter is added up across the entire server. Reach the target together and everyone who contributed is rewarded when the clock runs out.

Live events are started by hand, whenever the staff decide, and only one runs at a time. They are separate from Golden Hours: no multipliers, no fixed schedule — a live event can happen inside or outside the daily window.

WHAT CAN BE COUNTED

Each event counts exactly one of these:

GOAL	WHAT COUNTS
Produce units	every unit made in a work shift
Complete work shifts	every work shift
Start training sessions	every training you start
Eat bread	every unit of food eaten
Land war hits	every strike at a front

GOAL	WHAT COUNTS
Deal war damage	the damage of every strike
Fill market buys	every purchase, on the local or the global market
Read articles	every article you open — each one counts once per reader, and never your own

Contributing takes nothing special: do the thing the goal counts and it is added to the total the moment the action settles. There is no sign-up, and Auto Mode's shifts and strikes count like any others.

WHERE YOU SEE IT

- A pulsing flag in the header on every game page; hover it for the goal and the time left, click it to open the dashboard.
- A banner on the dashboard: the goal sentence, the progress bar with `done / target` and the percentage, the countdown, how many players have contributed, your share and your rank, the rewards, and the Top 10 list.
- Notifications: when the event starts (sent to the players the staff choose — the banner shows it to everyone), at 25 / 50 / 75 / 100 % (to everyone who has contributed so far), and at the end with your result.

Contributors are ranked by how much they added; on a tie, whoever reached that amount first ranks higher.

REWARDS

Each event carries its own rewards, shown on the banner. The staff can set up to 100,000 gold and 30 days of Premium per contributor, and gold bonuses for the Top 3.

- Target met: everyone who contributed (at least one counted action) receives the event's gold and Premium days, and the Top 3 receive their bonus on top. Premium days are added to any Premium you already have.
- Target missed but at least half reached: a consolation of half the gold, rounded down, goes to every contributor — no Premium days and no Top 3 bonus. Consolation is on unless the staff switched it off for that event.
- Less than half: no rewards.

Rewards are paid the moment the window closes. A pop-up on your dashboard announces your result — whether the goal was reached, your share and what you received — and stays waiting for you for 7 days. Reaching the target early does not end the event: the counter and the Top 10 keep running until the clock stops, so the ranks are settled fairly.

The staff can end an event early — it settles on the spot by the same rules, so a goal that had passed the halfway mark still pays its consolation — or cancel it: a cancelled event pays nothing, and its contributors are told.
